Tasting Notes

A classic Dry Creek Valley Zin with seductive aromas of creamy oak and bright raspberry swirled with white and black pepper. Toasty oak layers over ripe blackberry, raspberry, dark plum and spicy pepper with a hint of cocoa to create deep, rich flavors that linger on the palate.

This Zin is nicely balanced with silky tannins and a structure for aging. It tastes so great now it might be tough to leave it in the cellar, so be sure to get enough to hide a case or two for a few years.
